

What is claimed is:

1. A compressible linkage suspension system for a rear axle of a bicycle rear wheel comprising a controlled axle path, said path allowing for a range of anti-squat curves, and said anti-squat curves beginning within a range of 50 percent of a theoretical 100 percent value, and transitioning towards a lower range of anti-squat curves at a higher end of said path.